

Nominations for People First of Nebraska Disability Advocacy Awards

Each year, the members of People First of Nebraska honor self-advocates and the people who support us with awards. These awards will be presented at the PFN Awards Banquet on the evening of Saturday, October 9. Please talk about each of these awards at your next meeting and nominate people you think deserve to be recognized for their hard work and advocacy. You may attach more pages if needed. Nominations are due (mail or email) September 1, 2021.

The Ray Loomis Self-Advocate of the Year This award goes to someone who has who has been a strong advocate for themselves and for other people who experience disability.

Name of Nominee: _____

Why should this person receive this award? _____

Shirley Dean Chapter of the Year This award goes to the People First chapter that has done the most to advocate for themselves and for People First in the community.

Chapter: _____

Why should this chapter receive this award? _____

People First Professional of the Year This award goes to a paid professional that supports and advocates for People First and people with disabilities.

Name of Nominee: _____

Why should this person receive this award? _____

Sharon Howes Volunteer of the Year This award goes to a person who has volunteered their time to support People First and people with disabilities.

Name of Nominee: _____

Why should this person receive this award? _____

For questions contact Kellie Ellerbusch at 402-559-4892 or PeopleFirstNebraska@outlook.com